

Alzheimer's

Poetry

Sydney Hart

Alzheimer's

Calving into darkling depths,

Global warming,

Ozone rips.

Tips bely the mass beneath.

The unseen forgotten,

To ice bequeathed.

Icicle memories

In the heat of day,

Bold expectations

Melt away.

Barren rivulets

Drift asunder

Tattooing steadfast

Frozen tundra—

All that remains

Of yesterdays—

An ice cave buried

In a murky haze.